HIS EXPLANATION OF THE CASE.

THE COURTS MAY BE CALLED UPON TO DECIDE WHETHER THE COMMISSION ACTED

LEGALLY. The action of the Aqueduct Commissioners in reoving Consulting-Engineer Benjamin S. Church and lishing his office and salary of $8,000 a year has ad the effect of developing the fact that considerable friction has existed between the two head Aqueduct engineers ever since Mr. Fteley, the present chief, and Colonel Church exchanged places last November. Mr. Fieley explicitly denied yesterday the charge against him that he had been plotting with the enemies of the former chief for the latter's overthrow.

"Not only is the statement absolutely false," said Mr. Fteley, "but when the proposition was made that I take the place of chief engineer, I distinctly refused to accept it until Mr. Church urgently insisted upon my doing so. There was no humiliation in the exchange for Mr. Church, for the place of consulting engineer is in no way subordinate. When I held it I did not regard myself as under his directions; neither has he been under mine since the transfer. If the Commissioners, who are the proper judges, decide that there is no longer need of a consulting engineer, Mr. Church must not blame me. The act is that of the Commission, net mine."

Colonel Church was in no gentle frame of mind when a Tribune reporter found him in the engineers' department of the New Aqueduct offices. "The attack made upon me yesterday," said the Colonel, " was outrageous and unparatelled. Its object, apparently, in discredit me before the world, and deprive me of the means of livelihood. After my long and faithful service for the people of this city, the action of the Commission seems unbearable. In my letter to General Duane, I stated that I would yield to a legal vote of a legal majority of the Commission. I presume the vote of yesterday abolishing my office is of that character, but this fact will not prevent me from taking measures to defend my reputation as a citizen and an honest man. This I am determined to do in my own way,

When did you first learn of the purpose of the Commission?" "The first intimation of the real reasons which prompted those outside of the ex-officio members of the commission (the appointees of Mayor Hewitt last year) to get me out of the way was given in Commissioner Howe's remarks concerning my professional rulings during the construction of the work. Under the idea that to justify their existence the money allowances must be cot down below those of the old Commission, they mounted a hobby and were determined to pay less than the terms of the contract provided for. had been warned to lean toward ideas advanced by these commissioners and to support their hobby. But the contracts make the chief engineer the arbiter in deciding questions between the Commission and the contractors, and I declined to lean one way or the other. I ruled in strict accordance with the terms of the centracts. This has not been acceptable to a majority of the Commission.

After a long struggle the contractors made up their minds to accept my rulings, but large suits will un-doubtedly result from the acts of this Commission. which may end in far larger allowances in favor of the contractors. When these suits are tried I believe that Mr. Howe's unjust strictures upon my official actions will be fully refuted. I have struggled through the burden and heat of the day with complications, opposition, difficulties and lack of support in maintaining discipline which no other chief engineer exercencement of the magnitude. The numerous enemies I have been forced to make in doing authorous enemies I have been forced to have ny duty have at last prevalled.

"I do not accuse Mr. Fieley of treachery, but his ireatment of me since he became chief engineer has been in marked contrast with my consideration for him. His object since he reached this place has been seemingly to convince the Commission that there was no longer need for a consulting engineer, and to freeze me out. He has never actively participated in the work of construction of the new Aqueduct. During a whole year of the hardest labor for me he buring a whole year of the hardest labor for me he was away on sick-leave, his pay going on during the time by my request.

"If the people prefer to accept the ideas of new and untried men, instead of one who has given his life to the city's interests, I cannot help it."

None of the Commissioners was at their office yesterday except General Duane, and he remained only a short time. He declined to say anything about 1 was rumored yesterday that Colonel Church or his distains.

It was rumored yesterday that Colonel Church's lass might be brought into the courts under the Veteran act. Colonel Church served during the war as a captain in the 12th New-York Regument, and was an engineer officer on the staff of Major-General Barnard. It is said that the Colonel was the first prisoner taken by the Confederates after the war regan. He was out with a force of men making a veconnoissance when captured.

E. BERRY WALL FOUGHT IT OUT.

HE DID NOT LIKE TO HAVE AN AGENT FOR A

CHAMPAGNE FIRM ACCUSE HIM OF

BEING HIS EMPLOYE. Two tall young men, dressed in the height of fashion, engaged in a collar-and-show rough-and-tumble fight in the hallway before the offices of the United Growers' Company, importers of wines, at No. 39 South William-st., a few days ago, startled passers-by and loangers in the neighborhood. Bystanders rushed in and dragged the belligerents apart. One of the fighters was E. Berry Wall, "ex-King of His toilet was sadly disarranged in the battle. The fighters were separated. The cause of the affray it was not difficult to learn. If E. Berry Wall had gone to Saratoga instead of to Long Branch that day there would have been no trouble. His antagonist is a well-known figure at Long branch. he is known on the hotel plazzas as the Chevaller St. Marceaux. While out driving with the Baroness de Blane at the Branch, the Chevaller met Wall. The latter lifted his hat, the Baroness reponded graciously and the Chevalier nodded dis-

You know M. Wall?" asked the Baroness, so the story goes.
"Yes," laughed the Chevaller. "He is an agent for my champagnes. I pay him 25 cents a cork for every cork he sells."

The next day the Baroness taxed Mr. Wall with being a champagne agent. He stoutly denied it and when informed of the statement of the Chevalier, E. Berry was white with rage. He took the first train to this city and hastened to No. 39 William st./, closely followed by the Chevaller. The two men rlosely followed by the Chevaller. The two men met in the private office of Mr. Curiel, the president of the United Growers' Company, who employs Mr. wall and Mr. Lippe, alias "the Chevaller de St. Marceaux" to "push his wines." A hot scene took place in the office. Wall wanted to whip "the Chevaller" right there for saying that he employed him. Mr. Lippe responded tartly and Mr. Curiel told them that his office "was not he State of Mississippi" and if they wanted "to do any Sullivan-Kiirain business to go outside." Outside they went and fell upon one another with the result stated above.

The whole trouble is fhat Mr. Wall should have been at Saratoga while Mr. Lippe was to do Long Branch.

HOT PLACES FOR CLOTHING-MAKERS, The committee of the Boston Clothing Cutters' ufacture of clothing in this city by "sweaters," continued its work yesterday. The sights they saw were as bad as those of the previous days. Several places in Hester-st. were visited, and the ter rible poverty of the people was indicated by their surroundings and appearance. On each floor of the six-story tenement No. 75 Hester-st. were two workshops. In each shop was a stove, in which was a good fire, making the naturally hot atmosphere almost unbearable. In one room eleven men were engaged in making knee-breeches at 60 and 70 cents a dozen. By hard work, from daybreak till long after nightfall, they carned from $5 to $10 a week, it was said. Seven men and two girls were in the room with a hot stove and their machines were cooped up in another small room. In the same house eight men were found in one room making coats under the task system. No. 31 Hester-st. was also visited by the committee, and the same condition of things was found to prevail.

THANSATLANTIC TRAVELLERS.

The Hamburg-American Packet Company's fine new steamer the Augusta-Victoria left this port yesterday for Europe, with a large number of passengers. Some of them were: Bishop Potter, B. T. Clyde, General and Mrs. F. A. Starring, of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. William Keely, Charles F. Haseltine, Dr. B. G. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner G. Rubbard, Professor and Mrs. Charles T. Tainter and Mr. and Mrs. C. Duane Williams.

On the steamer State of Indiana were Mrs. I.

McKay, Alfred Markland, of Pittsburg; the Rev. G. W.

Merrell, Cavalier Eugenio Oakiey Odell and Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Swift.

THE PEACH MARKET IN BALTEMORE. Baltimore, July 25.-There are a large number of peaches arriving at the Light-st. whart. Fine Mary-land peaches have dropped from $1.75 to $1.50 a basket, and good Southern peaches bring about 60 cents per basket.

THE KEMMLER CASE ADJOURNED

NO MORE TESTIMONY TO BE TAKEN HERE

MAN'S RESISTANCE TO ELECTRICITY THE MAIN SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION-THE HEARING

TO GO ON IN BUFFALO. The session of the Kemmler reference case yester day, which was long and not particularly interesting, was the last that will be held in this city.

The first witness, Joseph Ocker, of Brooklyn, was called to describe the killing of Thomas Murray, a lineman, by electricity, in April, 1888, at the store of Bierman, Heidelborg & Co., No. 616 Broadway, where Ocker is employed. Then a recess was taken until noon, when Bernard J. Hughes, a dynamo engineer employed by the Western Lighting Company, took the stand to testify to the hilling of George Schneitzer, at the plant of the Harlem Lighting Com-pany, No. 242 East One-hundred-and-twenty-secondst., in September, 1887. Schneitzer, while standing on a damp floor, took hold of an electric lamp, fell down and died in a few moments. His hands were Theodore Lehmann, an assistant electrician at the Edison Laboratory, at Orange, N. J., related the results of a number of tests of the resistance of human beings, and found that in the same persons it did not vary greatly from day to day.

Deputy-Attorney-General Poste then introduced William D. McQuesten, an electrical engineer, whose opinion was that the various witnesses who had received shocks from dynamos and survived had, not received the full strength of the current, as their resistance was greater than that of the circuit through which the current had been travelling, and the law of the flow of electricity was that the current was divided in the inverse proportion to the resistance

After Harold P. Brown had been recalled to place in evidence a drawing of the apparatus to be used in lectrical executions, Dr. Landon Carter Gray was also recalled. He said that a number of European cientists had conducted experiments to learn the lectrical resistance of human beings, and all of them had found that it varied enormously in different persons. Mr. Edison's estimates were the lowest of any scientific authority that the witness had seen. Dr. Gray also told of some experiments of two French cientists, D'Arsonval and Dr. Brown-Sequard, who had apparently killed dogs by electricity and then brought them to life again by artificial respiration. When asked about the effects of electricity on human beings, Dr. Gray sa'd:

"Electricity is just like arsenic. A dose of the latter that would kill one man would not be fatal to another. I do not think that either agency is a ertain means of death."

Dr. Edward M. McCabe, a house surgeon at St. Vincent's, test'fled to the burns received by Walter F. Linnell on July 2, from a "live" electric light wire in Eighth-st., near Broadway. One of the injured man's hands was so badly burned that it had to be man's hands was so badly burned that it had to be amputated. Linnell's father, Renjamin F. Linnell, who was present when the accident occurred, described how he was knocked down several times by the current in freeing his son from the wire.

Miss Lena Cohen, of No. 200 Bowery, then told how "Fred" Witte met his death in front of her home in April, 1888, by touching an electric lamp through which a current was passing, and Albert E. Scoullar, superintendent of the United States Illuminating Company, testified that Meyer Streiffer was killed by a current of 600 volts.

Minor M. Davis, who is connected with the Postal Telegraph Company, the next winess, told the results of some measurements of resistance that he had made on five persons. He found that in half an hour one man's resistance would vary as much as 400 ohms.

The last witness was Dr. William T. Jenkins, a deputy corener, who testified to the killing of Thomas Murray, "Fred" Witte and Meyer Streiffer by electricity. As both Mr. Poste and Mr. Cockran here announced to Referee Becker that they had no more witnesses in this city, he adjourned the hearing to July 31, at No. 23 West Eagle-st., Buffalo.

PENSIONS FOR THE CITY'S BLIND POOR. About 500 blind people were gathered at the office of the Department of Charities and Correction, at Eleventh-st, and Third-ave., yesterday morning to receive the yearly allowance of 837 which the city makes to them. All ages, nationalities and conditions were to them. All ages, nationalizes and the first prepresented. Altogether there are 513 beneficiaries on the city's list. Between thirty and thirty-five are ill and unable to collect their money in person. They will be paid to-day at the places where they live by City Paymaster John H. Timmerman and William Hughes, of the Department of Charities and Correction. A few of the others will go to the city paymaster's office, in Reade-st., for their money. But the large majority of these blind wards of the city were disposed of yesterday through the joint efforts of Paymaster Immerman and William Blake, Superintendent of the Outdoor Poor.

The theory on which the city makes these payments is thus explained by Mr. Blake: "It tends to encourage them and prevent them from becoming paupers. This little sum is oftentimes a great help to them in paying rent or providing a little stock of goods."

William S. Mercer, the speculative builder, of No. 96 Broadway, whose absence from the city caused ome comment because of his financial embarras ments, was at his office yesterday to disprove by his presence any stories that he had run away from his reditors. Mr. Mercer said that he had gone to the ountry to visit his mother, and as soon as he saw the stories in the newspapers concerning him he hastened back to the city. He admitted being financially embarrassed, but said that his vouchers showed that he had not carried off any money belonging to his creditors. The story of his running away with a woman was likewise false.

THE BOARD OF EMIGRATION ORGANIZED. The Board of Emigration Commissioners finally managed yesterday to break its deadlock, organizing by the election of Commissioner E. L. Ridgway as president. Six Commissioners were present. Commissioner Huribut and Mayor Grant were absent. Commissioner Stephenson called the meeting to order, and Commissioner Starr took the chair. Commis-sioner Rorke nominated Mr. Ridgway for president, and there was no other nomination. Before the votes were counted Commissioner Ulrich left the room abruptly. It was said that he was a candi-date for president of the Board, but he denied that rumor most emphatically. Five votes were cast for Mr. Ridgway, and one for Mr. Ulrich.

Commissioner Stephenson then read an article from a morning newspaper in which Commissioner Rorke charged that there were certain abuses in Castle Garden. Mr. Stephenson wanted the alleged abuses investigated. The president was authorized to appoint an investigating committee.

The funeral of John J. Murphy, the well-known rainer and driver of trotting horses, was held yester iny morning, at St. Jerome's Roman Catholic Church Alexander ave. and One hundred and thirty seventh-st. Cherubini's mass was sung, the celebrant being Father Fitzsimons, assisted by Father Gallagher, of the Church of the Annunciation, as deacon, and Father Anservelli, as sub-deacon. Among the floral designs was an immease harp from Mayor Grant, bearing the inscription, "Always faithful to his trust." Among those present were Justices Welde and Relliy, Mayor Grant, Sheriff Flack, John L. Sullivan and Pierre Lottlard. The burlal was in Calvary Ceme-

THE COURTS.

RESTRAINING STABLE KEEPERS. Many complaints, have been made by residents in the neighborhood of Tenth-ave, and West Seventythird-st, regarding a nuisance which is maintained by the owners of a stable there. Yesterday Charles W. Nicherson, the owner of considerable property the neighborhood, procured an injunction from Judge the neighborhood, procured an injunction from Judge O'Brien, restraining George Crawford, Philip Hause-man and Andrew Crawford from keeping their stable there. The complaint says that there was formerly a private stable on the site, but it has now been en-larged to accommodate at least 100 horses.

Mr. Nickerson will be required to give a bond of $5,000 to protect the stablemen in the event of the case going against him, and the action for permanent injunction will probably be tried in October.

WANTS THE REFERRE'S REPORT SET ASIDE. Argument was heard yesterday by Surrogate Ran-som on a motion to set aside the report of the referse, L. W. Emerson, in the case of the William Lawrence estate, or to have it sent back for correction. The motion was opposed by Mr. Each, attorney for the heirs, on the ground that the report is a correct showing of the executor's mismanagement. The motion to set aside is in behalf of the executor, Adrian Van Sinderin, who is charged by the referee with having misappron od the estate, which originally amounted to $65,000. Decision was reserved.

CONTESTING THE WILL OF MALTBY G. LANE. The will of Malthy G. Lane is to be contested. When the case was called in the Probate Court yesterday, George S. Hasting appeared for the minor heirs, Richard H. and Florence May Lane, and filed objections to the will. The case was placed on the calendar of contested wills for a future hearing by Surrogate Ransom. The estate is said to be worth about $500,000. Mrs. W. H. Lane, widow of a son of the testator, is the mother of the children on whose behalf the contest is insiltuted, and no mention of her or her children was made in the will. She had a quarrel with her father-in-law, and at one time brought suit against him to recover property at Fort Ham-ilton, which she alleged he had obtained under prom-ises he had not fulfilled.

BITS OF LEGAL NEWS.

Judge O'Brien yeaterday appointed George H. Richardson receiver for the produce commission firm of Hawkins & Pearson, No. 188 Reade-st., in an action brought by Mary J. Hawkins against Samuel W. Pearson. The parties to the suit constitute the firm, and Mrs. Hawkins says that her partner has taken away the books and allowed one of his friends to obtain a judgment for $1,000 against the firm without her knowledge. He also failed, she says, to keep an appointment for the purpose of making a general assimment for the benefit of creditors.

she says, to keep an appointment for the purpose of making a general assignment for the benefit of creditors. Mrs. Hawkins says the firm is insolvent. Wanhope Lynn, the receiver appointed to look after Mme. Diss Debar's property, qualined yesterday by filing a bend for $2,000. Part of his duty will be to ascertain if she has any property in the custody of Luther R. Marsh, the property clerk at Police Headquarters, or

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKETS.

FRATURES OF NEW-YORK DEALINGS. The transactions in cash wheat were larger in the export line, nearly 90,000 bushels being taken for hipment. The market, however, was unscaled, in sympathy with a weakening tendency in options. The transactions amounted to about 7,200,000 bushels. As a rule the advices from the West were indicative of good crop returns; receipts were also large. The export demand was the only offsetting element. August opened 5-8 cent lower at 86 1-4, and Decemexport demand was the only offsetting element. August opened 5-8 cent lower at 86 1-4, and December 5-8 cent lower at 80 1-8 cents, and later sales were made at 85 7-8 and 88 5-8 cents respectively. On the curb August sold at 86 1-2.886 5-8, and December at 89 1-4 cents. Final questations were unchanged for July at 87 3-4, and 3-86-5-8 cent lower for the other months as follows: August, 86 1-2; september, 86 1-4; October, 87 1-8; Docember, 86 1-8; May 1890, 93 7-8 cents.

There were sales of 120,000 bushels of corn for export and some transactions were made to arrive. The weakness in w.c.i., however, affected the market and spot lots were 1-1 cent lower. The options show not lossess of 1-36-3-5 cents, at 43 1-2 for July, 43 5-8 for August, 43 7-8 for September, and 44 3-8 cents for October. The oats market was heavy, and the options closed 1-86-14 cent lower, as follows: July, 27 1-2; August, 27 3-4; September, 27 5-8; October, 27 7-8. May, 1800, 30 1-2 cents. Extreme dulness relied in lard, and last figures for options were 3-5 points lower, at 26-55 for August, 85-00 for September, 86-2 for October, and 86-45 for November. THE TRADE IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, July 25 (Special).—The bulls to-day lost the aid of the cables, public messages both at the opening and closing showing, for the first time in a week, a decline. Wheat started at a decline of about I cent. The weather in the Southwest was still wet, and as a result St. Louis had only 150,000 bushels and as a result St. Louis har any 150,000 bussels of wheat against 138 cars a year ago. Aside from the cables, the news looked both ways. There were dispatches from Nobracka which declared that the spring wheat there had been almost ruined by "blight," and that the winter wheat threshing was disappointing. On the other hand a dispatch from Minneapolissid that "the State Agricultural Society" made the probable wheat crop in that State 47,000,000 bussles, against 28,000,000 last year. The message for a few minutes created a hear flurry, but later, when it became apparent that the "State Agricultural Society" was simply some unofficial guessers, the market got over its little weakness. The news that Esher had sold 50,000 bussles for export, and the fact that, in spite of the lower public cables, the foreigners were buyers of wheat, altogether offset these figures. The market at times got a good deal of support from Hutchinson. July opened at 52 cents, but closed at 82 3-4. December wheat opened at 60 cents, sold between 79 5-8 and 80 3-8, and closed at 80 1-4. Corn was quiet, within 1-8 cent range. Cats kept within 1-4 cent range. Provisions suffered another decline, pork at one time showing a drop of 25 cents, lard 5 cents and short ribs 10 cents. The closings were a little above the low points. On the curb December wheat was steady at 80 1-4. of wheat against 130,000 in 1888. Here there were

THE PETROLEUM MARKET.

NEWS FROM THE FIELD AND RANGE OF PRICES tendency to reaction, due to the pressure of realizing stock. The market was dull all the way out. There was not an indication of excitement, so that when the efforts to recoup the stocks sold early began, prices moved up more easily than they had decimed, and on smaller transactions. Union Pacific after selling at 57.3-4 rose to 59 on a report that the net earnings for June show a gain of nearly $200,000. The actual figures are not yet at hand, but any gain is $250,000 better than the "fact" published July 8 in a speculators circular, and which has aided the decline from 60.1-2. St. Paul, after 68.3-4, closed 67.8-8, and Missouri Pacific, after 65.3-4, closed 67.1-2. Reading was comparatively duil only 16,900 shares, against 53,000 shares yesterday, but it recovered to 44.5-8. The new "Big-Four" and the Chesapeake and Ohio after early declines ruled firm at recoveries on small transactions. The market closed at about the best figures, quiet and firm. explain the anxiety of many traders to renew discussion of the success of the option bian of dealing. The clearances at the Consolidated Exchange from June 25 to July 24 were 18,107,000 burets. Adding the clearances reported yesterday (say 3,500,000 barreis), a record 1 given of 21,000,000 barreis, out of a total of 35,000,000 berreis from Mny 25. It is argued by the room traders that this exhibit is groof of the beneficial character of the phonical control of the stock Exchange to control the option and the following rule was nided to the previous regulations of the hippeline department, with a view, doubtless, to show a more successful carrying out of the original scheme of the option advocates for the spiling of oil.
